

What does your food order say about you?

Ever noticed how your order says a little too much about you?

Like some people play it safe, some go all in, and some? absolute chaos (we love that).

So we thought - why not turn it into a Food Personality Check?

So tell us — what are you ordering?

Don't think. Just pick 👉

garlic knots

You're the comfort everyone gravitates towards.

You don't try to be the centre of attention — but somehow, you are.

You're the one people call when they need grounding, when things feel a little too chaotic.

Warm, familiar, low-effort in the best way — you make people feel at ease without even trying.

You're not chasing trends. You're the reason people come back.

Chili Oil Dim Sums

You don't enter a room quietly.

There's presence, there's personality, and just the right amount of chaos

You like things bold — flavours, plans, people.

And you're not afraid to stir things up a little.

Life with you is never boring.

And you wouldn't have it any other way.

pan pizza

You know exactly what you like — and you stick to it.

No confusion. No overthinking. Just solid decisions, every single time.

You're dependable, confident, and quietly in control.

The one who ends up deciding for the table (and gets it right).

People trust your choices. And honestly? They should.

Say Cheese Wheel Pasta

You don't do ordinary.

If it's not a moment, you're not interested.

If it's not extra, it's not you.

You love the attention, the experience, the drama of it all — and somehow, you pull it off effortlessly.

Comfort — but with a twist.

Main character? Always.

Thai Chili Basil Noodles

You look chill. You act chill.

But there's a lot going on under the surface. 🌀

You like balance — but not boring.

Comfort — but with a twist.

You're the one who surprises people.

The one they think they've figured out... until they haven't.

Spicy Avocado Sushi

You're effortlessly put together.

You don't need to try too hard — your vibe just... works.

You like things a little different, a little elevated, and you know exactly what suits you.

Calm, composed, but never boring.

Lasagna Bites

You feel things deeply.

You're soft, warm, and a little indulgent — the kind of person who says "just one more" and really means five. 😊

You're here for comfort, connection, and those long, lingering moments at the table.

You don't rush anything.

And that's your charm.

So... what did you pick?

Be honest — did we get you right?

Send this to your group chat and call them out. We already know who's ordering what.

Or better...come in, order your personality, and let's see if it feels even more accurate in person.

Spezia's waiting.....

